

PROGRAMME

Thursday 28 February 2019
Royal Lancaster London

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP SUMMIT

1145 Registration and Exhibition

1230 Networking Lunch

1345 Thought Leadership Summit

Welcome and Introduction
Professor Martin Gill

Katy Bourne

Police & Crime Commissioner for Sussex

Relationship between PCCs and the business community

Sussex Police & Crime Commissioner, Katy Bourne will speak about the importance of engaging with the business community and the initiatives locally of Sussex Police force in working with them to tackle business related crime. There are many opportunities out there which are being missed. This talk will present an inside view of the changing landscape of business engagement with the police.

Dr Glen Kitteringham

Owner and Principal Consultant
Kitteringham Security Group Inc

The dangers of ineffective security guards

This presentation will examine the implications of poorly trained security guards and the impact for both the security workforce and who they interact with. Based on original global research, this presentation will also examine potential causes for the failure of training. Connected to this is the breakdown of security leadership that underpins guard performance and here a range of weaknesses are examined. The presentation will end with recommendations to improve both the effectiveness of security guards and the guard force management industry as a whole.

This event is sponsored by

Security Industry Authority

Chief Supt Nick Aldworth

Counter Terrorism National Coordinator
Protect and Prepare

Step change - the challenges of working together to counter terrorism

Nick Aldworth will present an overview of current counter terrorist activity and the development of public/private sector collaboration to combat the terrorist threat.

Dave Humphries

Interim Chief Executive
Security Industry Authority (SIA)

Private security - how it helps and how it hinders

Dave Humphries, Interim CEO of the Security Industry Authority (SIA) will provide a regulator's viewpoint of the private security industry, its development over time and its improvements in standards, but including, nonetheless, where it still needs to improve. The role of regulation and how this has evolved in parallel with developments in private security will also be considered. So will the threats and challenges to not only security providers, licensed security operatives and to clients of contracted security, but also to police partners and to the general public.

Stuart Lowden / Geoff Zeidler

Is the Security Industry Authority stifling the development of the security sector?

A lively debate involving well-known thought leaders Stuart Lowden and Geoff Zeidler.

1615 Summit closing remarks

1630 Networking/afternoon tea

1715 Close